Dr. McMillan is engaged these days in making a survey of the country north-east of Calgary. Several cases of glanders among horses have been discovered and active work is being done by the Veterinary department to stamp out the disease.

John Penny of Loretteville, Quebec, a young man who came west to assist in harvest operations, while engaged cutting grain on the Breckenridge farm near here, went out in front of horse to adjust a bridle that had broken loose, the horses started to run and before he could escape he was caught in the cutting part of the binder and his leg was so severely cut, between the knee and ankle so that amputation was found to be necessary. Dr. Burke conveyed the sufferer to High River hospital. He is progressing very nicely and will return to his home in Quebec as soon as he recovers.

BOXING BOUTS

Saturday Night Card at Opera House Was Great

Three bouts constituted the card at the boxing show on Saturday night, and it was a right good show, as every person in the capacity attendance is willing to testify. Everybody had their money's worth and to spare. The conduct of the event was pleasing to the civic and police officials, in fact the affair was such as will make boxing the popular sport that it ought to be. The first encounter was between Percy Baylor and James Ste. Marie, and the boys put up a strenuous battle, going the full course, with the decision a draw. The next event was between Earl Altizer and Earl Gilker, and was the best bout, owing to their being so evenly matched. They went the full eight rounds at a speed that made the interest intense, and though the decision went to Altizer, there were those who think that a draw would have been fair. However, both these boys have many supporters, and all are the friends of both, and the contestants play the game as real sports. The main bout, between Bud Brooks and Kid Warring, was not the contest that best suits the boxing fans but it was no fault of the principles, the cause being the fact that they were not evenly matched. Warring was far superior to his opponent, and put his man out in the sixth round. But there is much interest in a bout in which gameness persists against superior skill, and it was no discredit to Brooks to lose to Warring who has a style all his own, with ring craft and experience that few men of his size and weight possess. However at the end of the show, a young man who had watched the match presented himself and asked for a go with the winner, indicating that we are likely to have some more real boxing entertainment, for if this fellow is as good as his own judgment might suggest, there is fun ahead for the fans, for with them Kid Warring made a hit.

The demand for extracts of lemon on the part of Indians and Half-breeds has been so general, that steps are being taken to prevent its sale at grocery stores. Recently while passing by an old Indian encampment numerous empty extract bottles were seen scattered about.

The Village of Cayley will derive a nice fat revenue from its sports grounds this year. The grounds consist of 32 acres of fine land and this was leased to Charles Gribble on a crop basis. The land was sown to wheat and produced 1309 bushels which at prevailing prices will make a fine showing in the village's financial exchequer.

Mr. Jack Levi is suffering as the result of an accident, which happened on the premises of Mr. Floyd Atchison. A heavy grain tank fell on his hand and severely wounded that most useful member.

Members of the local branch of the Women's Institute are making every preparation for the constituency conference of the Women's Institute, to be held at Vulcan on September 29th, and it is one of the big events of the year here, the other being the school fair on the 27th.

Speaking of advertising rates the London Daily Mail receives $5625 for a single page, while the Sunday Pictorial of London receives $4,500 for a 54 inch page, which is $80 per column inch. Compare this with our rate of 35 cents per inch and you can understand why we are so poor.

A new record in grain hauling has already been established this season at Vulcan. It was the delivery at the local elevators of 202 bushels of wheat hauled by a team of four horses, and next to this was a delivery of 191 bushels. Mr. Harry Adams made the delivery of the biggest load, and it was some load for four horses.

Here is another Scotch story which we consider the limit and uncalled for: "A short time ago a Jew and his family had dinner at the restaurant, and after the meal the Jew gave the Chinaman a $1 for a 98c meal. He did not get up from the table, however, and his wife said "Ikie what are you waiting for?" "Oh, for the change." "Aw, come on, they'll think we're Scotch."

The Okotoks Review has discovered a loss which we in Vulcan have figured as a gain for some time, as witness the following from the last issue of that paper: "The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. Quinton will regret to hear that they have moved to Vulcan where the former will run a poolroom. Bob is the second member of the local hockey team we have lost this year and both he and Carson will be greatly missed."

Just about three o'clock on Monday morning the call came from Kinkaid for assistance from Vulcan to fight fire. It was explained that the Western Canada elevator at that point was in flames and that adjoining elevators were in danger of destruction. The fire truck, in charge of Mr. Wharry, was sent down and was used in preventing the spread of the fire. The elevator was totally destroyed, as were also two box cars standing on the track near by. The origin of the fire is unknown. It is reported that the elevator will be rebuilt.

Mr. William Armstrong, who lives out Lomond way, is in Vulcan every day or two just now, receiving medical treatment for an injured hand. Mr. Armstrong has been in the threshing business for some seventeen seasons, and up to the present had escaped any serious injury, but the other day he caught his hand in some of the machinery, with the result that one finger was literally torn off and the hand otherwise injured, the consequence being an enforced holiday and intense pain. There is the consolation that the accident might have been worse.

The people of the community, old and young, paid fine tribute to one of their number on Thursday last when they attended in such large numbers the funeral of Edith Edna McIntyre, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McIntyre, of Reid Hill district. The sentiment of the companions at school and the associates of the deceased in the church and Sunday classes, as well as of the older people, was splendidly expressed in the immense contribution of flowers. Deceased was beloved by her playmates and esteemed by all to whom she was known, they sharing with the parents the sorrow occasioned by the passing of a lovely girl. Services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Faulkner at the family home and at the Union church in Vulcan, and neither were sufficient in capacity to contain those assembled to pay their respect to one who had so completely won their love and esteem. Interment took place at the Vulcan burial park.

LOCAL ITEMS

Miss Lenore Barker of Edmonton, was a visitor in Vulcan this week.

Born, on September 6th, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. Hans Lundgreen, a son.

Mrs. Margaret Cummings, of Calgary is visiting with Mrs. Jack Deans, west of Vulcan.

Why don't you and your family come to our church asked a solicitous friend one day. And the reply given was that they belonged to a different abomination.

Mr. A. J. E. Gibson, of the Bank of Commerce staff, is back at his desk after a holiday spent at different points, but principally at Banff. Mrs. Gibson accompanied him on the pleasant outing.

The City of Calgary will undertake to do considerable road improvement as a measure of relief for unemployment. There will be many unemployed people in Calgary this winter, as present conditions indicate.

There will be a special meeting of Rodlandview Women's Institute, at the home of Mrs. Willard Snow, on September 24th, to make all arrangements for the constituency conference to be held in Vulcan on September 29. All members are requested to be present.

Threshing is hardly at full blast though general, and some there are who have threshed out. The delivery of grain to Vulcan is making a busy time at the six local elevators. The best yield records of which we have been informed is that of James Jamieson and John Jacobson, both realizing about the same, 40 bushels on summerfallow and 17 bushels on stubble. It is said that a net price of $1.23 per bushel has been received for some of this wheat.

The school fairs held in different parts of the province these busy days are about the best kind of competitions that can be held. The fairs have the very best kind of real satisfactory results.—Calgary Albertan. This opinion of the paper will have the general endorsement of the people, and it is a worthy ambition of the Vulcan district to have the best school fair in the whole province. The boys and girls of twenty-four schools invite everybody to join them in the effort to attain to their object.

Two or three fellows were before the court in Vulcan this week for their bad behaviour. Their offence took place in Champion, where they had taken on too much booze and started a scrap on the street, with the result that they smashed a plate glass store window that cost them over eighty dollars to replace, and besides they were assessed a few dollars for their transgression of the law. They were penitent enough when sober, and realized that the owner of the window and the court had dealt generously with them.

The bath house which Nero built at Naples has been recovered. It was a six story edifice and showed that the Romans in those days made a serious business of the bath. This statement in a local daily would indicate that the swimming pool is no new idea, the difference being that in the old days it was called a bath house, and if it might help the promotion of the Vulcan proposition any we are willing to use the term natatorium. Vulcan with a public natatorium would certainly be some town, for we are some better than the rest.

The visit of death to our community has been frequent of late and this week we have to record the passing of another resident, this time Mrs. Hubbard, wife of Mr. Roger Hubbard, both residents in the district for more than ten years. Death came with unusual suddenness to Mrs. Hubbard, for almost up to the time of her demise she was pursuing the usual activities about home, and news of the event was a shock and sorrow to neighbors and friends, whose esteem she commanded and enjoyed, and they join in sympathy with a bereaved husband and two children who suffer a great loss.

That one thing leads to another is all the time being demonstrated, and an evasion of the law is not only bad but dangerous at times. One night this week the police warned a couple of men against driving a car without lights, and were given opportunity to proceed to a garage to fix up for illumination. While on the way they were struck by another car and both cars were damaged, and they will have to foot the bill for both. Instead of going to a garage they sought a place out near the park. Soon the police came upon them again, and their disregard for orders prompted further investigation which developed the fact that they were from the States and did not possess the necessary permit to come over, which made them liable to prosecution under the immigration laws, and even though they might not be prosecuted further they were required to spend a night or two in the coop. It usually costs something to go wrong.

Wires and electric service have just been extended to the Pioneer elevator, the furthest elevator out, and now when the whole row of six big-capacity elevators are lighted up, it will make something of a big white way.

Monday was the opening of the shooting season for ducks and partridge, and Vulcan shooters were out in force and got their share, but the retruns indicate the truth of the statement of one of the hunters when he said: "You can get quite a few ducks all right, but it is d— hard to get the Hungarians."

The Odd Fellows have announced a dance for Saturday night, and the music will be furnished by the London Life orchestra of Calgary. This is the first appearance of this organization in Vulcan, but they come with a splendid reputation and the promise of the best and latest in dance selections. Dancing will commence at eight o'clock.

The two splendid flags, numerous gold medals, silver cups and shields, now in the window of Discher's jewelry store make a mighty interesting display to school pupils, for they are a few of the prizes to be awarded in connection with the Vulcan School Fair. This school fair could not be more of a real community event and as such it deserves support and its excellence merits every aid you can give.

The reflection of fire, plainly visible in Vulcan on Tuesday evening, and to the west was from a burning stack on the premises of Jas. Jamieson. How the stack caught fire is a mystery, but the satisfaction is that the threshing rig and everything was saved from destruction, the only loss being straw, which is no loss in this country. However, the event suggests what might have been and should be a warning as to care about threshing outfits.

Mr. Albert Mutz is away up to Fernie this week, his business being to secure further equipment for use in connection with the fire protection system which is being installed in connection with the Vulcan Light and Power Co. plant and the Imperial hotel. The large cement reservoir which is 45 feet long, 16 feet wide and 7 feet deep, has been completed and it has been splendidly housed, and the boys are keeping watch for the first two or three feet of water, for they have been promised a splash in the place.

Alderman Art Spooner is a patient in a Calgary hospital. The first report of this was indeed a surprise to the people. His affliction is the result of appendicitis, and he was hurried to the city on Saturday evening and an operation performed at once, and none too soon, as the condition revealed was serious. Now all is as well as could be expected, and the hope of everybody here is that he will soon be able to return to private and public business, in both of which he renders a service that is much appreciated.

There was a meeting of the school board on Monday night. The chief business was the discussion of the matter of school equipment and accommodation. The number of pupils now in attendance at the public and high schools is the greatest in the history of these institutions and the increase is particularly noticeable in Grade 11, and is perhaps the result of the exceptional record made this year in connection with the examinations and the high standard which has always obtained at the Vulcan schools. More seats and other requirements have been ordered by the board.

Mr. Fred Glass lives in a rural section of Illinois and owns a farm in Vulcan district, and comes up here every year to help in the harvest, and will return this week highly satisfied with returns, and better pleased than ever with his Alberta investment. The crop on his place has been garnered and part of the grain already delivered to the elevator in Vulcan. While in the office the other day to pay for The Advocate for another year in advance, which in itself is compliment to the publisher and a credit to himself, he praised the paper and the place, and in conversation made mention of a fact that might be a suggestion to Vulcan and vicinity. Like every citizen ought to be, he is interested in public affairs in his home community, and since coming here has received word of the success of his efforts in the matter of improved roads. Many of the roads in his part are oiled, and he says that every town down there the size of Vulcan keep their streets in splendid condition by oiling, and by comparison of prices it was found that oil for the purpose can be secured right here at less cost than where he resides. What a difference oil would make on the streets on the windy days that we have. Perhaps when Mr. Glass comes again the oil will be in use, for it is a subject that has been more or less discussed at times by the municipal authorities.

IRVINE'S SCHEME

William Irvine's scheme to affect drouth and hot winds in Alberta by filling the physical depressions of the province with water from the rivers, is not without merit, says the Bassano Mail. A better plan still would be to level the Rocky Mountains from Alberta to the Pacific ocean, for a width of 200 miles. The moisture laden winds from the broad Pacific could then penetrate right through to our Sunny Province, without being deprived of their humidity by the towering peaks of the Rockies. A barrier might be placed mid-way so that on occasions when rainy weather is not wanted, such as during the Calgary stampede the rain clouds could be held in abeyance.

The area of the Pacific Ocean is greater than that of all the land in the world, and the volume of its water is six times that of all the land above sea level.

Many American and Canadian papers are publishing Biblical feature stories today. It is a recognized fact that apart from its Divine Message, the Bible is great literature and full of interest to those who read it seriously.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald confesses to that tired feeling which appears to be the price paid by him for the Premiership of Britain. He doubts whether anyone in future could ever hold the position more than twelve months at a stretch. His life is a very busy one.

One sort of reciprocity we would be very glad to bring about would be an exchange of Scottish rain for Alberta sunshine. If the one country could have some of the rain the other gets it would be a happy exchange. At present the only kind of liquid that comes from Scotland to Canada is in bottled form, and while it does not raise crops, it sometimes raises—Strathmore Standard.

The Ottawa Journal, Liberal Journal, appeals to the Federal government to spare the Canadian bench the taint of political patronage. It recites a list of 17 judges who have been appointed under the McKenzie King regime, all of whom had at one time or another rendered service to the Liberal party. Law Societies that know the field have not been consulted. It has been so since confederation and will no doubt so continue to the end.

The sentence meted out to Leopold and Loeb by Judge Caverly at Chicago, is not for Canadians to criticize, but it does appear the sentence of life imprisonment imposed upon those murderers is far too lenient. The details of the murder were most horrible and death penalty would have satisfied the ends of justice. It is such decisions that produce lynch law across the border, and reflects on the honor of the judiciary of that country.

DEFENCE DAY IN U.S.

Friday, September 12 was "Defence Day" in the United States. In other words the nation tested its man power. The idea was to determine just how fast a full strength army and navy could be mobilized in case of international trouble. In this connection the press were divided as to the wisdom of so doing. Some Editorial writers wrote that if the United States really wanted to find out how strong and virile it is, it would ask itself and investigate these questions:

1. Are we conducting our foreign trade in such a way as to yield maximum profits not only to ourselves, but to the nations with whom we do business?

2. Are we taking steps to increase the birth rate among the fit and decrease the birth rate among the unfit?

3. Are we educating our children according to individual adaptability or according to stiff uniform standards?

4. Are we dispensing quick, sure justice in our courts?

These are the real tests of national power, not military manoeuvres and target practices.

President Sherman of the Alberta Coal Miners, comes out flat footed with the statement that the coal miners will not accept a reduction of $1.17 per day in their wages. Some of the miners want an increase of $1.17 a day and there you are. It does not look favorable for a settlement.

Over in Chicago, the police are testing the eyesight of all traffic law violators and they find drivers who cannot see twenty feet away. There is talk now of having car owners make a test of their vision before being granted a license. They should also be tested for sanity and quick decision. An auto unwisely handled is more dangerous than a loaded revolver.

The provincial Trade Commissioner has received a request from the firm of Vickers Ltd., London, for samples of high volatile lignites and bituminous sands for test purposes. This company has expended considerable capital in perfecting systems or the manufacture of coal by-products and has just completed the new process for low temperature distillation of coals and oil shales.

It is recorded of Oliver Schreiner in the new "Life" written by her husband that she read the Sermon on the Mount at the age of six with great amazement, and rushing to her mother cried, "Look what I've found! It's what I've known all along. Now that we can live that! It was difficult to check her excitement, but we are told that she was silenced eventually, and that all her life she could not get over the fact that "people did not 'want' to live like that."

It is said that 90,000 people paid admission of from $10 to $50 to see Mr. Firpo, of South America, beaten by Mr. Wills, of Chicago, for twelve rounds. Both are inferior fighters, end yet by press advertising through the sport pages more than one million dollars was paid at the gates. Think of a brutal, tiresome exhibition like a second-rate prize fight bringing in a million dollars. The men who paid are foolish to say the least.

J. H. Dempsey, the pugilist, is going to marry another man's wife. Meanwhile divorce proceedings are under way. It does seem an unnecessary proceeding. England has a surplus of seven million unmarried women. Germany has a surplus of eight million. France a surplus of seven million and Italy a surplus of four million. One would think the fastidious Mr. Dempsey would be able to find a satisfactory mate without stealing a second-hand wife from someone else.

The Advocate publishes in full, resolutions recently passed by the McCafferty Local Union, No. 415, of the U.F.A. These resolutions are of considerable importance and worthy of careful perusal by farmers throughout this district. It would appear that a great deal of legislation passed in years gone by with the object of benefiting debtors has had an entirely opposite effect and has been detrimental rather than helpful to those for whom help such legislation was intended.

SEASICKNESS

Have you ever suffered from seasickness? If so, you will be glad to know about it. The Editors of the Barrie Examiner and Kincardine Reports, who recently crossed the ocean we know will appreciate the following treatise on the subject: "Dr. Warren points out that the sixth sense—that of balance—is mostly concerned with sea-sickness. 'The organ of the sense,' he says, 'is in the base of the skull, of the head; The canals are semi-circular and about as big round as the lead of a pencil, and the three of each group communicate with one another. The canals are lined by special cells, each of which has a relatively long, fine hair attached to its inner end. A nerve fibre runs from each cell to the brain. A fluid rather thin and watery, called the endolymph, fills the canals, and when the head is moved in any direction, the endolymph surges along the canals, increasing the hydrostatic pressure in that canal in the plane of motion, and so stimulating the cells. The constant motion of the ship sets the endolymph swinging every way, until the semicircular canals are so continuously and variously stimulated that the brain revolts. The stomach follows and nausea results. The motion of the ship, the glare of the sun, bad smells, and indigestion complete the downfall.'"

"And then what shall I do?" you ask. Don't worry—you'll do it.

We can imagine the relief it will be for the Prince of Wales to escape from dress clothes to riding breeches, patched coat, and slouch hat and freedom from all ceremony.

Eleven million visitors visited Wembley Exhibition in August 21. The Queens Doll House in the Palace of Arts which we were permitted to see, is being shown at sixpence a head, and over $125,000 has been put out aside for charity as a result of this charge.

Alberta Wheat Pool officials claim that farmers who joined the co-operative marketing organization received $2,000,000 more for their 1923 crop than they would have netted through independent marketing methods. The pool actually handled 34,192,805 bushels of wheat during the first pool year.

Calgary garages will not be permitted to lawfully sell gasoline on Sundays. The Lord's Day Alliance has instructed the city police to stop the practice and this they will do. Personally we doubt the wisdom of such law enforcement. It won't better the world by any means to stop the sale of gasoline.

Lady Byng, of Vimy, has a "Canadian" garden of flowers at her country home in Essex, England, that is really wonderful. She has now on her list some 93 varieties which she has recently ordered from Canada. To make her collection complete, it will take her three years of work, but work that is full of pleasure.

After months of unemployment six hundred men formerly working for the Chicoutimi Pulp and Paper interests have returned to work when the pulp and paper mills of the company resumed operations. Press dispatches tell us that Spain is waging war with the Moors and the Spanish garrison at Morocco is in danger of massacre. Spain was invaded in 711 A. D. by the first Moslem army and since then at stated intervals she has fought back the tide of Mohammedanism. The Vancouver Sun asserts that had it not been for Spain's 1200 year stand against the Moslems, the Koran might be taught in the schools at Vancouver to-day. Spain's mission on this earth appears to be that of rear guard to Christian civilization.

THROUGH WEMBLEY

Canadian Editors Immensely Interested in Wonderful Exhibits

Wembley park where the Exhibition is, occupies 234 acres. In reality there is much less ground to cover in a trip around the buildings than at the Canadian National in Toronto. It is perhaps impossible to present a proper contrast or comparison of the two, inasmuch as the British Empire Exhibition is being held only once for a period of a few months, and is meant to present the products of the whole empire, while the Toronto exhibition has been built up over a period of nearly half a century, and is chiefly concerned with Canadian products. Certainly one can spend many days at Wembley if he desires to study intensively the products of the various countries. In the Palace of engineering and the Palace of Industry the products of Great Britain are shown. Practically all the other buildings are devoted to other parts of the empire, such as Canada, Australia, India, Burma, Malaya, Fiji, Hong Kong, the Gold Coast, South Africa, British Guiana, the British West Indies, Canada and Australia have the largest buildings of any of the colonies, and even an impartial observer must admit that the Canadian building is more artistic and attractive, and the exhibits much better displayed. For example, the products of Australia are, in most cases put on display without any indication as to where or by whom they are produced. On the other hand in the Canadian building, practically every product is advertised by showing the name of the firm which manufactures it, or the particular section of the Dominion in which it is obtained. Prospective buyers have this information without having to ask for it. The Canadian products are well displayed, particularly some of the manufactures. One interesting exhibit is a model of the Prince of Wales standing by his horse, and alongside the ranch house on his farm at High River, Alta., the entire display being made out of Canadian butter.

India, while not having as large a building as either Canada or Australia, has, in my opinion, a more attractive one from an architectural standpoint, but the exhibits have the same lack of information as are noticeable with regard to the Australian displays. The buildings of the more distant and less known parts of the empire are exceedingly interesting, inasmuch as we are probably all prone to neglect informing ourselves on what other parts of the British Empire are doing, and the display of their products gives one a good idea of the variety of the industries which flourish in any particular colony.

It would take too long to enumerate even the more important products of the various parts of the empire which we saw at Wembley, but one of the most interesting features to me was the large variety of woods that are on display. Almost every colony has its own particular kinds of trees and of lumber, and the highly finished woodwork that one may see in a hundred different designs and qualities are most illuminating as to the resources of the empire in this one particular alone. Some of the most beautiful woods, grown in Malaya, would bring a small fortune if they could be produced in America, and almost every colony has some similar kind of wood that appeals to the eye. Oils, minerals, fish, products of the factory and of the farm lie before the public in a wonderful array at the British Empire Exhibition, and it is a real education to go "a-Wembleying."

Farmers near Magrath report big yields, several having crops as high as 50 bushels per acre.

OUR IMPRESSIONS

Being a Short Resume of Trip Across
The Ocean

By Charles Clark

St. Paul's Cathedral proved an interesting spot. The architect was Sir Christopher Wren and the building follows the form of a Latin Cross. It dates from the year 1675, and took 22 years in building. Here also, rests the bodies of many famous men but no monument has been raised to Wren but on a marble portia over one of the doors, Wren's epitaph concludes as follows: "If you would seek his monument, gaze about you." The cathedral itself, is sufficient to memorialize the famous architect.

The town of London was also visited by the editors, but as I had been there in 1902, I went instead on a tour of the port of London which proved a surprise and of which reference will be made in a special article. Of the tower, our readers are no doubt familiar. It was started by William the Conqueror, in the 11th century and up to the time of Charles II, was used as a residence for Kings. Its solid stone walls and fortifications made it valuable as a place of detention, some famous political prisoners languished there and died. In various rooms it to be seen armour worn by Knights and men at arms during the past centuries in others, mortars and guns, numerous styles of cannon, and small arms used during the past centuries showing the development of warfare in the different ages.

"The old Curiosity Shop," which has been preserved in its natural state from the days of Charles Dickens, and which he made famous, is a very small shop of two rooms, and is now devoted to the sale of curiosities. The person in charge intimated that next December, the owner would close up the business owing to high rental. We doubt if the place will be permitted to close for many tourists find delight and pleasure in visiting the historic spot.

It was apparent that those who arranged our itinerary had considered church, going as out of the question. Sunday, July 6, we boarded a launch at Richmond bridge, whence we sailed up the Thames through miles of beautiful lawns, riverside residences, and small pleasure craft of all kinds to Hampton Court. We did the place and gardens in less than an hour, and had a peep at the beautiful garden, the great vine, the wonderful clock, the fountains, the yew trees, Hampton Court lies about 20 miles from London and is one of the royal residences and maintained by the nation. It was originally built by Cardinal Wolsey as a residence for himself. Later he presented it to King Edward VI who lived there with his six wives in succession. The palace itself though the property of the King, is not used much now by the royal family, and is really only a show place because of its historic past. The decorations and furniture are largely antiques and have been there since Henry VIII lived in it. From Hampton Court we left in Charabancs for Colonel Grant Morden's country home, "Heatherden Hall," a beautiful estate at Slough. Colonel Morden is a Canadian who has attained a high position in financial circles, chiefly through his connection with the British Empire Steel Corporation and with Mrs. Morden they entertained the Canadian Editors in a most charming way. Chief interest centered in some of the prominent guests who were present and who spoke in proposing toasts. After the meal in the marquee, we listened to speeches in which Lord Birkenhead forecasted that recent decisions concerning preferential treatment of Dominion products should not be changed. In proposing the toast of Canadian F.I.T.s, he did so in a speech that was remarkable for its oratory. He is recognized as one of the most brilliant men in public life in Britain, and was formerly known as Sir Frederick Smith, Solicitor General under Lloyd George. The second of the toast was the Rt. Hon. T. P. O'Connor, the "father of the House of Commons" and he broke a lance with Lord Birkenhead. "Pay Pay," as he is familiarly called, spoke clearly and with force, and he displayed keen Irish wit and humor, in his reply to His Lordship, with whose views on preference he strongly opposes. The Hon. Col. Amery and Sir Hamar Greenwood were also speakers on this occasion and added to our information and pleasure. Very many distinguished men and women were at this function including Mr. Geoffrey Isaacs who organized the Marconi wireless systems, and made a fortune. Here we also met Hon. R. B. Bennett, of Calgary, who also was present at the banquet with his sister, Miss Bennett.

From this delightful spot, we were transported for tea to Hall Barn, Beaconsfield, where a most homelike reception awaited us at the hands of Lord and Lady Burnham. The estate consists of 6000 acres, mostly wooded. Here is the oldest lawn in England, amid grounds, the delights of which would fill many columns. No servants "poured tea" or "cut tea." Our distinguished hosts, their daughter, and other titled friends waited on the needs of their fellow newspaper folk from overseas. Lord Burnham is the owner of the London "Telegraph" one of the leading newspapers of London. Then we motored back to London passing through a country that was delightful to look upon and full of interest.

The pace grew hotter next day, though the weatherman tried a few tears in the morning, which found us at Kenley Aerodrome. Here we witnessed a flying demonstration, by the Royal Air Force, specially arranged by the Air Ministry. After stunts of all sorts, one pilot demonstrated what not to do in flying. He skimmed roofs, "flat turned," without rudder or banking, and did other daredevil things. Then four machines went up and presently four of another type rose and attacked them. Next came bombing a dummy submarine, and finally most of our party, including nearly all the ladies, went aloft in all types of British fighters and the larger commercial machines.

Of the entertainment at Hervey castle I quote from Hugh Savage's account written to the Cowichan Leader, which aptly describes Major Astor, his clever wife and beautiful castle:

"Time pressed or more would have flown. We swept by charabanc down narrow lanes, gazed over a wide vista of Kent and stopped at Hervey Castle for lunch in another great marquee, and there spent the afternoon, the guests of Major the Hon. J. J. Astor, M.P., and Lady Violet Astor. You will have gathered that we had by this time seen many wonderful sights and met many delightful people. We had passed from one entertainment to another but here, at Hervey, was certainly one of our most memorable experiences.

The Castle is just the embodiment of all you have read of or dreamed that a castle should be. It is not large. You come on it suddenly and rub your eyes to see if they can possibly be going wrong. Here is a square tower and turret and great gate, surrounded by a real moat with drawbridge and portcullis intact. Within are Holbeins and armour, tapestries, and treasures of all kinds, and momentoes of Henry VIII, who here wooed Anne Boleyn. Around stretch lawns and terraces and gardens, before whose beauty one stands tongue-tied. The pen may convey some hint of their entrancing loveliness, but who shall adequately describe the combined effect of this typically English home and the charming pair who lavish upon it all that love and care that its first owners could possibly wish for?

Major Astor is one of the most modest and delightful of men. He it was who bought The Times and, in effect, preserved it for the world it serves. Lady Violet, who treated us to a pleasing little reply on her initiation into the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association (in which she is to represent The Times Weekly Edition), is a daughter of the late Earl of Minto, one of our own Governors-General. Her mother's work in connection with hospitals and nursing in Canada will never be forgotten. She recalled with delight her stay at Rideau Hall.

I do not think that one of us wished to leave this fairy place, which is both palace and home, and those who live there, who are at once to be numbered among the greatest in England and among its simplest and kindest hearted.

But—the last car waits and, leaving Westminster, where Wolfe lies buried, to our right, we get back to town. A welcome awaits us the same evening, again at the hands of Lord and Lady Burnham, but this time in the offices of the Daily Telegraph in Fleet Street. The business office had been transformed for the occasion and from the music and delights to be found there one might sail into the works, where the great presses were turning out the provincial edition. And so, as the great diarist says, "home to bed."

What was the last and probably the most notable event of our London visit was a dinner given by that well-known Canadian, Max Aitken, who lived at one time in Calgary, now Lord Beaverbrook, the owner of the London Express. The dinner was held in Queen's Anne Hall and was given by Lord Beaverbrook as a welcome to the Canadian press at which function there were over 500 persons present, the chief guest being David Lloyd George. Elaborately printed menu cards were placed on tables and with tables numbered guests were enabled to find their seats without any trouble. At my right on this occasion was Mr. Sylvester, private secretary to David Lloyd George, while the Hon. Timothy Healy, governor general of Ireland, occupied a seat at my left. The Daily Telegraph report of the affair was as follows, which we consider worthy of perusal: "Lord Beaverbrook, who presided, was accompanied by Lady Beaverbrook and seated at the head and other tables were Lord Ashfield, the Earl and Countess of Birkenhead, Viscount and Viscountess Burnham, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd George, Mr. Winston Churchill, the Earl of Derby, Viscount and Viscountess Devonport, the Marchioness and Donaghy, Sir Joseph Cook and Lady Cook, Sir Hamar and Lady Greenwood, the Marchioness of Headfort, Mr. T. M. Healy (governor general of the Irish Free State), Sir W. and Lady Joynton-Hicks, Lord Kyslant, the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough, Lord Wargrave, and the Earl and Countess Winterton.

Lord Beaverbrook, extending a welcome to his guests, said he had himself come comparatively recently from a Dominion and he would go back again whenever he could. For that reason he would leave the speech of welcome in the able hands of another. Nor was it he right for him to speak about the Empire, because he stood there in the presence of the greatest Empire builders of their time—Lord Birkenhead and Mr. Winston Churchill. They had added millions of square miles to the Empire. They had added those priceless possessions of Palestine and Mesopotamia—and there were some who had thought it possible that we might hold Chanak, too. But when one came to speak of the Empire one required to be rhetorical. He associated himself entirely with Mr. Stanley Baldwin in that connection. Mr. Baldwin had said that rhetoric was largely the art of concealing the truth. It had also been said that to tell the truth needed no thought. That was why he always told it. Their guest that evening, Mr. Lloyd George, was a great man. He knew Mr. Lloyd George was a great man because a Frenchman had said so—and what a Frenchman said of Mr. Lloyd George was true if it was in praise of him. (Laughter) It was the same sort of thing as if a Western Canadian spoke well of him (Lord Beaverbrook). (Laughter) That Frenchman was M. Clemenceau. Mr. Lloyd George had said to Mr. Bonar Law that Gladstone was a great man. Mr. Bonar Law replied that Gladstone was a great humbug. M. Clemenceau put his arm affectionately round Mr. Lloyd George and said, "All great men are great humbugs." (Laughter) "What a pity," reflected Lord Beaverbrook, "that all great humbugs are not great men." (Renewed laughter) Alluding to Mr. Lloyd George's great services to the Empire, the speaker said his labors as war prime minister will go down untarnished and undiminished to posterity. Mr. Lloyd George had, more than any man, determined the victory in the great conflict. (Cheers.)

During the four months of April, May, June and July a total of 18,870 Canadians returned to Canada from the United States. Of this total 16,166 were Canadian-born citizens, 1,646 were British subjects who had acquired a Canadian domicile, and 1,058 were classed generally as Canadian citizens. In July alone the total number of admissions of returning Canadians recorded at the International boundary line was 5,127.

A MODEL CITY

A half day was devoted to a visit to Port Sunlight, near Liverpool, the model "village" in which Lever Bros. make their famous soaps. The facilities for visitors in this factory were the most complete I have ever seen. Sightseeing galleries run all through the acres of buildings, along which visitors can walk without disturbing the employees. The sightseer can pause to observe more closely any process that interests him. Signboards along the route describe the various processes, and give full information, making guides unnecessary. Perhaps the most impressive feature was the speed with which the girls perform many of the operations. Their dexterity and nimbleness is almost incredible. The whole party were entertained to luncheon, over which the Hon. W. Hume Lever presided, in the absence of his father, Viscount Leverhulme. We also visited the magnificent art gallery erected as a memorial to Lady Lever, and inspected the treasures it houses in pictures, statuary, furniture and antiquities. The soldiers' memorial at Port Sunlight is particularly fine, perhaps the most artistic we saw, with the exception of that at Exeter. The residential part of the city is also worthy of note. The streets are paved and beautiful lawns and trees adorn the residential section. For recreation there are golf links, tennis courts, bowling greens and athletic grounds for football and cricket and all for a nominal membership fee.

NEW INVENTIONS

Patents on two inventions which promise to advance the agricultural industry in Alberta a long step forward, have recently been secured by the Alberta Department of Agriculture. One of these inventions, created by three farmers resident in the Sedgwick district, is a new ensilage cutter which is designed to eliminate much of the labor entailed in harvesting heavy ensilage crops. The invention is a machine drawn by three horses which not only cuts the crop but also cuts up the ensilage and dumps it into the wagon travelling alongside. Those who have handled heavy crops of sunflowers will realize what a boon such a machine would prove to be. Some time ago Mr. Hoadley took the invention up, and has had a machine manufactured for test purposes. He has also secured the patent rights on it for the three western provinces. During the next few weeks tests of the machine are to be carried out at Lethbridge, High River, Strathmore, Olds, Lacombe and Edmonton. The machine is at present at the experimental farm at Lethbridge, where it will remain for some days then move to High River, and will be at Strathmore the week following. Farmers are urged to attend demonstrations of the machine if possible. It is the purpose of the department, if the demonstrations are satisfactory to have the machine manufactured and made obtainable to the farmers of the west at cost. It is believed such a machine would be of an immense stimulus to the dairy industry, making it much easier to put up a feed crop for winter months. The other invention with which the department is concerned is that of a machine placed on grain separators designed to clean wheat of all weed seeds without interfering with existing weed cleaning apparatus on the separator. The experiment with this attachment has been in the hands of W. J. Stephen, field crops commissioner, and has been brought to such a satisfactory stage that several are being manufactured for tests this fall. The machine is designed with the ultimate purpose of freeing the province of the weed menace with the eventual saving of millions of dollars and should also have the effect of freeing for use in feeding, the screenings strictest regulations because of their weed dangers. Mr. Hoadley's chief hope in connection with this invention is that it will make it possible to deal

BUTTER MAKING

Nearly 25 per cent. increase is expected to be recorded this year in the production of Alberta creamery butter over the production of 1923. The production last season was 17,750,000 lbs. and this year should be approximately 22,000,000 lbs. An increase of over 40 per cent. has already been shown in the creamery butter graded by the government system in the seven months to the end of July. The total amount graded by the service last year was 4,614,710 lbs., during the seven months referred to, while the amount for the same period this year has been 6,896,234. Continued improvement in the quality of cream and butter as a result of the official grading system is shown. During the seven months there has been a total of 8,940,975 lbs., of cream graded by the government graders, an increase of 20.1 per cent. over the amount of the same period last year. Of this amount graded this year, the "special" grade has shown an increase from 40.9 per cent. to 45.9 per cent. and the percentage of "firsts" has grown from 26.7 to 39.9, while the lower grades have been reduced from 17.9 per cent. to 10.1 per cent. The same improvement is shown in the butter grading, where the "firsts" have increased from 62.6 to 67.8 per cent. of the total amount graded, while the lower "second" grade has been reduced from 15.7 to 11.7 per cent.

E. P. STOCK SALE

At the special personal request of Lord Renfrey that the sale be held while he is present on the ranch, Prof. W. L. Carlyle, is issuing announcements of the first annual sale of imported and home bred Scotch Shorthorns, Hampshire and Shropshire Rams, the property of H.R.H. Edward Prince of Wales, during the stay of Lord Renfrey at his ranch. The announcements state that the sale "will be held at the E.P. ranch, Pekisko, Alberta, on Wednesday, October 1, at 2:30 p.m." "This offering," continues the announcement, "will consist of 14 young bulls and eight heifers, 16 Hampshire rams and 12 Shropshire rams. A cordial invitation is extended ed to all breeders to attend the sale and inspect the ranch and livestock. For catalogues and other information address W.L. Carlyle, E.P. ranch, Pekisko, Alberta. J. W. Durno, auctioneer, Calgary, Alberta." It is understood that these announcements, which in effect constitute an invitation to the sale for those who receive them, will be sent to all breeders of livestock in Alberta. It is needless to say that the presence of Lord Renfrey himself at the first sale of the blooded livestock on his ranch is bound to have the effect of tremendously encouraging the interest in such events and thereby indirectly assisting the rapidly increasing interest in breeding of blooded livestock in Alberta.

Of a total production of 170,169 barrels of petroleum for 1923, Ontario contributed 159,400 barrels, New Brunswick 8,826 barrels and Alberta 1,943 barrels. All of Ontario's output was from wells in the southwestern portion of the province. New oil wells of considerable capacity have recently been brought in in the Ontario field, while aggressive drilling is taking place in Alberta with reports of new wells being brought in.

Experience teaches wisdom and no doubt many farmers throughout the west now realize the utter folly of sowing seed on stubble fields. Year after year farmers have lost money this way and it is safe to say that eight years out of ten it has been a failure. This year stubbled in crops are reported as failures and farmers henceforth will observe the lesson and only sow seed on land fully prepared for cultivation.

VULCANA GOOD PLACE

Calgary Mayor Says This of Vulcan and District

The Calgary Albertan on Wednesday carried an interesting story of an ambitious young woman, with a unique idea and somewhat remarkable record, and what gives added local interest is the fact that the young lady has decided to locate at Vulcan a fact that is more natural than remarkable, for has not the world of late heard much of our unequalled grain crop of last year and he splendid conditions of this. The following is the story as it appeared in The Albertan:

Seven younger brothers and sisters on relief in Vancouver sent a young woman of that city to Calgary in search of harvest employment. Working her passage east from the coast by hard manual labor, she arrived here two months ago after spending three months on the road. Being unable to find employment in the city she called upon Mayor Webster yesterday afternoon, and through his good offices left last night for a position in Vulcan.

Twenty-five years old, strong and fond of the out-doors, this girl has earned her way driving teams in the fields, chipping the bark from telephone poles with a gang of men in Revelstoke, and is now looking for a chance to stook or drive a binder in the harvest fields of Alberta. Born in England, she has spent 17 years in this country, and gained her farming experience in the state of Washington, where she worked for three seasons in the fields, being at one time forewoman over five men.

"Things were dull in Vancouver and I thought I would like to come to the prairies with the harvesters," she said, "so I went to a garage man and asked him to let me help fix the cars." After working there long enough to earn her passage, she moved on to a little town 20 miles west of Revelstoke, where she drove a three-horse team for several weeks. Finishing her job and finding no more farm work available in the district, she joined a gang who were barking telephone poles working beside strong men and earning the same wage of $5 per day that they did. "That was pretty hard work," she said, "I would much rather work at farming."

Arriving in Calgary with a little money to spare, this enterprising young woman has been looking for harvest work since. Once the government employment bureau found her a position and she spent her last dollar journeying to a small northern town only to have the man who employed her fail to meet the train. The provincial policeman at that station loaned her the money to come back to Calgary, and not knowing what to do, she called upon Mayor Webster yesterday afternoon.

"Well, good-bye, and I hope you like your job," said the mayor as he bade her good-bye later in the afternoon. "And remember," he cautioned, "Vulcan is a good place, and Calgary won't be for a young woman out of work this winter, so don't come back here, whatever you do."

Anxious to obtain the out-of-door work she loves, the girl has taken housework as a means to start in Vulcan in the hope that there will be an opening to do farm work later.

Over in England one sees very quaint memorials in graveyards. Here is one that was restored by officers in 1781. "An honored soldier never is forgot whether he die by musket or by pot."

The ways and dispositions of some women passeth all understanding. On August 16, Joseph Spence, a quarter breed was arrested on a charge of assault and battery on his wife, Mary Spence, a white woman, of Claresholm. Evidence was given that Spence had brutally treated his wife, by plucking a handful of hair out of her head and otherwise painfully injuring her. In hearing the evidence, Alex Thompson, police magistrate, found the husband guilty and fined him $20 and costs, or two months hard labor, not having money, he went to jail. On September 14, the records show that the faithful wife journeyed to Lethbridge, and paid the fine, thus releasing her husband who proved so unfaithful and brutal to her one month before. The amount of the fine was mailed to Mr. Thompson by the warden of Lethbridge jail.

Calgary Auto camp reports a brisk season during the past summer months a total of 1972 cars with 7000 people having stopped at the camp, as compared with 1452 cars and 4,854 people in 1923.

The new election act of the province has been gazetted and is now in effect. Its first use will be in the Edmonton bye-election shortly to fill the vacancy created by the elevation of Hon. J. R. Boyle to the bench.

The first annual sale of imported and home-bred Scotch shorthorns, Hampshire and Shropshire rams, the property of the Prince of Wales, will be held at the E.P. Ranch on October 1. All breeders and others interested are being invited to attend.

Four new towns have been created in the north country recently, these being Whitelaw and Brownvale on the Canada Central extension beyond Berwyn, north of the Peace River, and Wembley and Dimsdale on the Grand Prairie extension of the E. D. and B. C.

They tell of a strange case in a small Missouri town. A man complained of pains in his heel. His physicians removed his teeth, but the pains continued. They removed his tonsils and still the pains remained. As a final resort they removed his shoe, and the X-Ray revealed a long needle imbedded in his heel.

Alberta's tar sands near Waterways have been attracting considerable attention from experts this season. The latest to visit the deposits was Roland T. Day, prominent mining engineer of New York City, who recently returned from the north, expressing the confident opinion that there was no obstacle to the development of the bituminous sands on a large scale.

The provincial schools of agriculture at Olds and Claresholm will open for the 1924-25 term on October 28, the term closing on March 27. In these schools free courses in practical agriculture and home economics are offered for boys and girls over 16 interested in taking these courses. No examination requirements are set for entrance.

Experiments are being conducted in the West this season with two new brands of wheat, both of them of earlier maturity than Marquis. One is the Reward type and the other known as Garnet. Whilst not rust resisting they are designed to mature before the rust season comes on. The plants were bred at the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa and the seed has been sent out to fifty farms in the West. If the promising results are finally attained the new wheat may revolutionize production.

During the month of July, Canada exported to the British Isles 12,730 head of cattle as against 7,191 in July 1923, and to date this year exports total 87,304 head approximately 24,500 more than during the same period of last year. Exports of beef were some 400,000 pounds more, bacon 3,500,000 pounds more, and mutton 5,700 pounds more than in July a year ago. To date this year exports of bacon total 63,049,700 pounds as compared with 58,153,900 pounds during the same period of 1923.

It now seems almost certain that Southern Alberta probably Lethbridge, will be selected as the site of a sugar beet factory to be erected by the Utah-Idaho Sugar Co., of Salt Lake City. During the past week officials of this company met with prominent Lethbridge citizens and with Hon. V. W. Smith, Minister of Railways, under whose jurisdiction comes the irrigation schemes of the south. The officials went fully into the possibilities of the proposition, and the question is only one of production of the beets, which the farmers of the irrigated sections seem ready to undertake. The sugar company officials will make a definite decision shortly. A considerable acreage has been prepared for sugar beets in the irrigated district surrounding Lethbridge.

RESOLUTIONS

Here are Copies of Three Resolutions Adopted by McCafferty Local Union, No. 415 of the United Farmers of Alberta

Resolution No. 1—Whereas it is in the interests of the U.F.A. Convention to weigh carefully any questionably resolutions before requesting legislation on same; And whereas such resolutions can be weighed by the U.F.A. Board prior to each Convention; Therefore be it Resolved that all resolutions be carefully scrutinized by said board with the object of pointing out to the Convention any contradictory demands.

Resolution No. 2—Resolved that this Local is of opinion that the Resolution passed at the last Annual Convention held in Edmonton on the subject of the Mortgage Legislation of the Province was adopted without sufficient discussion and adequate understanding of the legislation in question, its history and purpose, and that it should be rescinded at the first opportunity, and the whole subject reconsidered.

Resolved further that the legislation in question, particularly in so far as it imposes restrictions on the enforcement of the personal covenants in Mortgages and Agreements for Sale, was passed first in 1916, and supplemented and extended in 1917 and 1919 by the Liberal Government of the day, not primarily for the protection of the farming class, who during these years were not in distress, but for the protection of speculators in real estate in Cities, (including Ministers of the Crown) as an aftermath of the real estate boom, and that the present Farmer's Government had said such legislation has not only had the effect of impairing credit of the Province of Alberta as a field for investment of Mortgage and Insurance Companies, but it has also seriously impaired freedom of contract in the buying and selling of lands by making the enforcement of such agreements both cumbersome and costly, and that in practice this has reacted with great disadvantage and injustice on those members of the farming class who are vendors of lands, who cannot be termed "The money power in the Province", and that this Local is of the opinion that in reconsidering the whole effect and policy of this legislation it is wisest to leave the matter in the hands of the skilled Law Officers of the Government, without hampering them by advice from those who possess imperfect information on a subject of an extremely technical character, and that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Premier, and Attorney-General of the Province.

Resolution No. 3—Resolved by this Local that the Government of this Province be requested, in conjunction with the other Governments of the Dominion and particularly of the Western Provinces, to bring in legislation of a similar character to the Judgment Extension Acts of Great Britain passed in 1857 and 1858, whereby judgments obtained in one Province may be made effective and enforceable in the other Provinces speedily and at small costs, and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the Premier and Attorney-General of this Province.

A sand-glass is still used for keeping time in the English House of Lords.

The London Star says that Canada is to have the privilege of welcoming the Prince of Wales every year. It continues: Despite circumstantial reports to the contrary, it may be taken for settled that when the Prince of Wales has visited South Africa next year he will bring his wanderings in distant parts of the world to a close for some years. While there is no doubt he would like to visit certain parts of South America, the demands upon his time at home are likely to become increasingly heavy in future, so that he will be kept almost constantly engaged in England. The bright exception will be a visit of a few weeks every year to his Canadian ranch.

To such an extent has the production of pure seed grain for commercial purposes in Alberta been stimulated by the success of the past two years by exhibitors at Chicago International and by the operation of the Alberta Government cleaning and marketing plant, that the plant expects to handle more than 75,000 bushels during the coming season. This will be made up of Marquis and Ruby Wheat and Banner and Victory Oats. At a recent meeting of the executive of the Alberta Seed Growers' Association, a resolution was passed highly commending the operation of the plant by the field crops branch of the Department of Agriculture, and the low cost under which the plant had been operated. The total cost of handling the seed grain through the plant, and marketing it abroad last season was 18,70 cents a bushel, which covers all charges including freight, wages, etc.

REID HILL NEWS

Mrs. W. Hartman has been suffering for some little time with appendicitis. We hear that she is somewhat better at this writing.

Rev. P. H. Robert was a week-end visitor to the Reid Hill, Prospect Slope and Kirkcaldy churches. Mr. Robert is a religious education superintendent for the Baptist denomination in Alberta.

Some of the children in the Prospect Slope district seem to be suffering with a mild form of sickness. It is hoped nothing serious will be the result.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. E. Colwell, on Sunday, 14th Sept., a son.

BERRYWATER NEWS

The Berrywater U.F.W.A. met at the home of Mrs. R. E. House on Thursday, September 11th (postponed from previous day), Mrs. Oldfield presiding. The details concerning the sale of home cooking and aprons were arranged, the sale to be held on the afternoon of the 20th in the Odd Fellows' hall, Vulcan, in aid of church funds. Mrs. Oldfield as one of the representatives present gave a splendid report of the discussion of the proposed appointment of a municipal nurse, which took place at the council meeting held on September 6th at Lake McGregor, when several representatives of various locals attended. A lady speaker from Edmonton was also at the council meeting and explained many of the details concerning the appointment of a nurse. After the business part of the meeting had been dispensed with, Mrs. W. Hill gave an excellent paper on the subject of suitable diet for adults and children up to 10 years of age. The main points of her paper dealt with children's daily dieting, the free use of fruit and some vegetables, milk and good water, and very little sugar. This paper was most interesting and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded the writer. Miss Gladys Baden kindly gave a helpful demonstration on making a really nice chocolate icing, which all present watched with much interest. Mrs. Amey sang "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and although there was not the usual large attendance at this meeting owing to the busy season and other causes, all present spent a nice social afternoon. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, and the meeting adjourned. The U.F.W.A. will meet once a month until further notice.

A service and Sunday school is held each Sunday in Berrywater school at 11:30 a.m., the Rev. Mr. Thompson being in charge. Everybody welcome.
